Sussex man's fantasy wins him tickets to British Grand Prix

The British Grand Prix marked the half-way stage in the Formula 1 race calendar. Lucky Sussex man, Garry Warwick of Newhaven, was at a wet Silverstone to see Lewis Hamilton win, courtesy of Rossetts Commercials Mercedes-Benz.

The Rossetts Fantasy Grand Prix competition is in its second year. Garry Warwick, a driver for Rossetts' customer, Brake Bros, gained the most points between months at the mid-season stage making him the lucky winner of two tickets to last weekend's Grand Prix at Silverstone.

"The idea behind our Fantasy Grand Prix competition is that we keep in touch with our customers in a fun way and reassure them that we are always here, keeping their vehicles on the road," says: Bob Murphy, Service Manager at Rossetts Commercials Mercedes-Benz. "As well as this fantastic mid-season prize we also have monthly prizes, plus the end-of-season winner gets a trip to Maclaren and a driving day experience. I am delighted that someone from a loyal customer won the tickets."

Brakes is a leading supplier to the foodservice sector in the UK and has been a customer of Rossetts Commercials for over ten years. Garry says: "Our companies have a close relationship. Being a driver I am consistently benefiting from Rossetts' quality of service, allowing me to do my job on a daily basis. Rossetts ensures our company is kept on the move, keeping my truck and Brakes on the road."

For customers of Rossetts Commercials Mercedes-Benz it is still not too late to join the competition with spot prizes every month waiting to be won. Players need to be at least 21 years old and can enter online at www.rossetts.co.uk/entry.html. Good luck - there are still nine races to go before the end of the season.
